'Missing' woman not involved in accident

A rescue worker, right, searches the water for a woman thought to have been driving a pickup truck which collided with a beer truck on Hwy. 603 about 2:20 p.m. Tuesday. She wasn't found because she wasn't there. The pickup's driver, Michael J. Powers, 36, of Diamondhead (shown seated at left) evidently became disoriented by the accident, according to Diamondhead fire chief Dennis Westbrook, and told rescuers that a woman named Roxanne was driving. A firefighter at the scene said he had seen the couple in the truck several times and that she was usually driving. She showed up at Hancock Medical Center after the accident to see Powers. Both Powers and beer truck driver Billy R. Bryant, 58, of Biloxi were treated and released. No charges have been filed as yet, according to Mississippi Highway Patrol Trooper Glenn Grice, who said the incident is still under investigation. (Photo by T.H. (Doc) Toups)

Railroad strike affects fifty local families

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

At least 50 people in Hancock County are participating in the nationwide railroad workers strike, reported Maintenance and Way (track and bridge) workers David Marquar and Harold Sanders of Bay St. Louis, while they stood guard at the CSX rail office on Railroad Avenue.

The strike, which began at 7 a.m. yesterday morning, involves 15 railroad companies and 13 unions. As of yesterday, all negotiations had broken off over wage and work rules.

"I wasn't too worried about the wages and benefits," said Maintenance and Way worker Charles Melligan with his strike sign strung around his neck, "but when I heard of corporate seniority, I became 'gung ho' for the strike."

"I lost everything I had once already—nineteen years seniority in Virginia. The first time is hell. The second time is easy."

The union men in Bay St. Louis seem most upset over the elimination of seniority districts and the creation of corporate seniority as suggested by the President's Emergency Board (PEB) report findings revealed this January.

The elimination of seniority districts threatens to force men to travel hundreds of miles in search of work. Most railroad workers travel from job to job within a limited district.

As the years pass, the men build seniority and jobs are awarded in order of those levels of seniority.

With the elimination of the district lines, a worker from one area can go to another area, and through seniority, take another's job.

The men pushed back may eventually be forced to search for work in another area of the country, where the same pushing for jobs is repeated.

The creation of corporate seniority gives the railroad company the authority to pull a man from any area into another area, depending on where the worker is needed.

The men complain of the disruption these moves will cause within their families, and the railroads complain of the need for more efficiency in their operations.

Beth Bridgeforth, staff assistant on the labor committee with Senator Thad Cochran reported via telephone, "The house called for a hearing Wednesday to discuss possibilities."

CSX Transportation director of state relations, Larry McKay reported in a telephone interview that negotiations were

Bay city council nixes rezoning

BY TRACI BONNEY

Residents and property owners in the area behind the Hwy. 90 post office were partly pleased with the Bay St. Louis city council's decision Tuesday night not to approve rezoning on property owned by Paul Vegas.

Several people, including

Tad Black, Yvonne Sallinger and Jeanne del Castillo, thanked council members Jim Thrifflay and John Wilkerson for their votes opposing the zoning of property in the Bouslog/Bismark Street area from Residential 1 to Commercial 3. The motion to rezone the property needed a 4-1 vote to pass, but received a 3-2 vote and failed.

However, the residents and property owners were not pleased with a motion that was approved, one which allowed a special subdivision of property Vegas has sold to the local chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star for a lodge site.

Black told the council he didn't think it was proper that immediate neighbors of the property were not notified of the application for the special subdivision.

Wilkerson concurred, even though city attorney John Scaffide said the council is not legally obligated to notify residents of applications for subdivision of property, since those are not zoning changes.

Thrifflay agreed with Wilkerson and asked Scaffide to study the possibility of adding a resident notification clause to the ordinance concerning subdivisions.

Del Castillo asked Scaffide if it were legal to sell property that has not been subdivided, as she alleged Vegas did. Scaffide said selling the property does not hinge on whether or not it complies with local ordinances. Using the property, however, does depend on whether or not the property complies.

However, since the council unanimously approved the special subdivision of the property, the Eastern Star chapter is free

Material, weather problems delay park court completions

BY TRACI BONNEY

Concrete problems are behind the delays with two county park projects, according to a report Mike Smith gave the board of supervisors Monday.

Smith, president of Lagniappe Construction Services Inc., explained that an insufficient amount of fill material and inclement weather have held up the pouring of a concrete slab for a basketball court at the Pearlington recreation center, while the Fenton park basketball court project was delayed because the seeding (cement poured on top of the concrete to finish the surface) didn't bond with the concrete.

He said the Pearlington court should be poured by the end of the week, weather permitting. The Fenton court problem may have to be solved by capping the court, Smith added. (Capping involves pouring a second slab of concrete on top of the first.)

In addition to discussing park problems, the supervisors accepted a preliminary plan presented to the Hancock County Planning Commission for the development of five lots into a subdivision. By accepting the preliminary plan, the board gave the developers the green light to continue finetuning their plans.

A road standards guide proposed by road superintendent Sam Cuevas was accepted on a 4-1 vote, with Supervisor Lisa Coward voting against it. Coward said she agrees that there is a need for standards for subdivision road construction, but thinks the standards proposed are too stringent.

Diamondhead sewerage rates increase

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Diamondhead Water and Sewer District Commission approved a 50 percent increase in monthly sewerage cost Sunday, April 7, to be divided over the next two years to help defray the cost of the new state mandated $5 million treatment facility.

The 50 percent increase will be divided into two 25 percent increases, one to take effect May 1 of this year and the other to go into effect May 1, 1992.

The commission explained the state requires proof of ability to pay for the $5 million loan as a condition to awarding of the loan. The rate increases will provide the revenue and subsequent proof of ability to repay the debt.

The commission said the loan was a low 3-4 percent interest loan.

Of the five treatment facilities now servicing the Diamondhead area the state has deemed none adequate handle the increase in flow from the population rise.

The first increase will up residential usage to $17.50 per month for the first 4,000 gallons of usage, $2.50 per 1,000 gallons over 4,000 and $1.25 per 1,000 gallons over 10,000; commercial usage will be $30 per month for the first 1,000 gallons of usage, $6.25 per 1,000 gallons over 1,000 and $3.75 per 1,000 gallons over 5,000.

The unmetered resident in a condominium will pay a flat rate of $17.50 per month.

New customers will pay $1,250 for a residential hook-up and $2,500 for a commercial hook-up.

By May of 1992 the residential customer will be paying $21 for the first 4,000 gallons of usage, $3 per 1,000 gallons over 4,000 and $1.50 per 1,000 gallons over 10,000; the commercial customer will be $30 for the first 1,000 gallons, $7.50 per 1,000 gallons over 1,000 and $4.50 per 1,000 gallons over 5,000.

The unmetered resident's flat rate will be $21 per month and new customer hook-up fees will increase to $1,500 for residential and $3,000 for commercial.

The commission approved a resolution Monday, April 15 whereby property owners, without a lateral pipe line from the main sewer joined to their property must assume the cost.

The cost will be $650 or $250 for the joint connection and $10 per linear foot of pipe, which ever is the greater.

Jim Smith, a builder, questioned the commis-

Driving you crazy

A columnist from a Louisiana newspaper commented Wednesday on a phenomenon many of us Hancock Countians have noticed and railed about on more than one occasion — the insane driving habits of our neighbors to the immediate west of Mississippi.

He explained that Louisiana drivers are ruled by the "Napoleonic Code," which has only one law: "After your light turns green, count to 30 or allow five cars to run the red light before proceeding."

Anyone in the reading audience who has taken a quick trip to New Orleans, or even down Highway 90 around Henderson Point on a summer Saturday, can verify the existence and practice of the Napoleonic Code.

Now, we Mississippi drivers are not quite as insane as our jazzy neighbors, but I have seen a few things on the roadways that make my hair curl (no, that doesn't explain the wavy coiffure you see in my photo; that's natural hair curling).

The primary offense, in my book, is the use of a car phone while driving.

Now, don't get me wrong. Those who want a car phone have every right to own one, as long as they have the paper or plastic to buy it.

In fact, I will admit that a car phone has its uses. It can act as a CB in an emergency situation, with one advantage: you decide who hears your call for help, instead of having the message broadcast to anyone who has his ears on a particular channel.

However, I see a couple of drawbacks to having a car phone.

One, which I have stated in a previous column, is this: why on earth would you want a phone in the one place where you can legitimately escape from the thing???

The second is even more obvious: a car phone can distract you from your driving.

It's bad enough that people write, read their mail, change clothes, apply makeup, steal kisses from a spouse or girlfriend/boyfriend, or eat whatever meal it's time for while driving, but do they have to conduct business or gossip on the phone too?

Now, I've been guilty of a couple of those offenses — mainly the writing and eating on the roll — on occasion. (It's hard for a reporter not to do some of that stuff when she's on her way to an assignment.)

However, you will never, NEVER, see me with a car phone propped on my shoulder while I'm driving.

Leaving aside the facts that I can't afford one and don't want one in my car, I simply think something like that is too dangerous.

Imagine for a minute what would happen if you received shocking, surprising or upsetting news while motoring down that lovely, ever-changing obstacle course we call "Highway 90."

You could kill yourself and/or someone else just because you reacted to the news that the stock market plummeted, you lost your high-paying job, or your pregnant wife gave birth to not one, but three, babies.

Even if you don't cause a 20-car pileup because of a bad reaction to some information, you could still back traffic up for miles by driving slowly while talking.

Maybe that's a bit of an exaggeration, but I can imagine it happening. I did see one instance, about a year ago, where a car phone slowed traffic on Highway 90.

The person in question was talking on his phone while driving about 35 miles an hour down the highway in Gulfport. The only problem was that he was in the left lane at the time, and there was no room on the right to pass.

Why this guy couldn't pull off the road, or at least get into the slow lane, is beyond me.

Oh well, at least we haven't adopted the Napoleonic Code. Driving Oddities in Mississippi — yet.

Shark!

This 391-pound bull shark was netted Monday evening 50 yards from the shoreline in front of Fairview Campgrounds in Clermont Harbor, according to David Richardson.

Local 'Jaws'

This "monster of the deep" was caught with a small section of a gill net by fishermen, from left, L.J. Delerette, Rich Veillon and Richardson. The trio said they saw the shark's fin as it was swimming close to the Clermont Harbor shoreline and waded out and circled it with the net. They drug it to the shoreline and used a pickup truck to pull the shark across the road. It was weighed at Terry's Seafood on Bayou Caddy, where it was kept in a cooler overnight. ## Nereids sponsors spaghetti dinner

The Krewe of Nereids is offering its annual spaghetti dinner this Sunday, April 21 from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. at Trapani's on Highway 90 in Waveland.

The chefs will be Harold Hitt and Chuck Breath.

Patrons are invited to enjoy fun times with friends there or takeouts and deliveries are available.

Cressionnie heads Joppa Shriners

New Orleans native Jeff O. Cressionnie was elected the thirteenth Potentate Of Joppa Shrine Temple for 1991. The temple offers free hospital care to children.

Cressionnie served in the Marine Corps from 1948 till 1968. He attended Jesuit High School and taught music during the mid-summer sessions from 1961 until his retirement in 1978.

He is married to the former Bobbie Lee Sparrow, owner of Chanaro Nursery in the Safford-Lizana area.

Any youngster under age 18 is eligible for free entry and treatment in our hospitals. It's as easy as dialing 392-9345 for further information," said Cressionnie.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

This is one of those times of the year when we seem to have many things happening.

Coming this Saturday is the Cajun Concert in the Park, sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Business Association.

The concerts, about three a year, take place in Bay St. Louis City Hall park. They have become very popular events for many folks; previous ones have been well attended.

Concerts in Bay St. Louis are not new to the area, as some date back a hundred years or so. I have read about several in our archives.

The event is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. and is free to the public. The association is asking those attending to bring lawn chairs.

The menu will include boiled crawfish, jambalaya and gumbo with all the trimmings. Popcorn and beverages will also be available.

Music will be provided by Garland Moran & The Night Travelers.

Advance tickets for the food are on sale at Ruth's Bakery, Olde Time Coffee Shop, Chamber of Commerce and at Mary's Eatery.

Proceeds from the food sales are to be used by the association for community projects.

I hope to see you at the Cajun Concert in the Park.

A new (old) venture will be coming to Hancock County on Sunday, April 28 when the Hancock County Youth Task Force presents an All Wheels Show at the Hancock Civic Center on Longfellow Drive from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In addition to many old vehicles, refreshments and family entertainment will be featured.

There will also be grand prizes and hourly drawings.

Persons interested in further information can call Tony at the Lakeshore Body Shop at 467-1535.

It sounds like this will be an interesting event.

The City of Waveland is in the process of doing some renovations, and the officials are trying to obtain photographs of all former elected officials for display.

Over the years, Waveland has had mayors, aldermen, town marshals and other elected officials.

Right fast, I can count about 30 or 40 officials for the city which I can recall.

The history of Waveland as a town and city goes back many years.

If you have any photos or want information, please give Betsy Phillips a call at 467-4134.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Financial help is on the way

Mississippi's legislative fiscal leaders, bloody and bruised from several bouts with the state's financial crisis and problems related to taxation, seemed relieved a few days ago when help appeared on the scene.

The offer for help came from Mississippi's business leadership—a coalition, in fact, of more than 30 business associations and firms—offering to give aid to a financial sputtering state government.

The offer to help came in the form of a commitment from the state's business leadership to create a commission on efficiency in government for the purpose of identifying steps which can be taken to make better use of existing tax dollars. The effort will reach into both state and local governments.

And, best of all, business has agreed to fund the study and pass the results on to the Legislature, to the Governor, and to the people of Mississippi.

The Mississippi Economic Council made a decision at the end of 1990 to offer business help to government. At the Council's invitation, more than 30 other business groups have signed up to help.

Legislative leaders, for the most part, have welcomed the offer.

Business has emphasized that the study is not intended as a witch hunt, nor intended to point fingers. Rather, it is an attempt by business to cooperate with government in trying to solve Mississippi's critical money problems.

Meanwhile, Representative Charlie Capps of Cleveland, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has introduced a resolution endorsing the study and calling on state agencies to cooperate in the effort.

It is a resolution which should be quickly and enthusiastically adopted by the Legislature, and supported by all Mississippians.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lack of leadership sold county to highest bidder

Dear Editor:

I'd like to throw in my two cents on the gambling issue. Gambling proponents like to argue that the majority approved the issue, so that it must be OK.

One hundred and fifty years ago the majority would have said that slavery was OK. So much for the wisdom of the majority.

It seems that this whole gambling issue is being forced upon us by a relatively few thieving individuals dangling prosperity in front of us like a carrot on a stick.

This is the same "modus operandi" used by the Communists to win over economically depressed third-world countries. The Communists couldn't deliver and neither can the gambling proponents.

Finally, on the next election day let's all remember the amazing lack of leadership on the part of our elected officials.

They all laid low until they saw which way the electoral wind was blowing, and in so doing sold our county to the highest bidder.

Let's elect leaders who can see past the quick fix ideas to the creative solutions that require more work, such as attracting retirees with fat pensions to our area, or developing the beaches so people quit driving by us on the way to Alabama and Florida.

Sincerely,
Duncan Galland

Criticism of Rev. Barber was unnecessary, unfair

To the Editor:

I am not, in particular, a religious person, but must respond to a recent letter which is derogatory, illogical, and insensitive to Reverend Nathan Barber. I am surprised the Sea Coast Echo would print the inflammatory letter, which, to wit said, Barber should keep his head in the pulpit regarding gambling.

I recently gave approval to Barber for any related community spirit and concern—and spoken like a concerned citizen without biblical references.

Yet, the letter writer had the audacity to quote superfluous biblical phrases to augment his malignant opinion.

I am not a consort of God, but would not trade for the 20 pieces of silver.

Dan Moses
Bay St. Louis

Bible passages do not support practice of gambling

To the Editor:

I am writing in reference to a letter printed in this section of this paper which was issued on April 13 concerning Dr. Nathan Barber and the First Baptist Church.

It is my feeling that the one who sent in the letter should have been sure he was telling the truth. I don't live in Bay St. Louis, but I am a member of that church and attend all of the services. I am also a preacher and a deacon.

I know for a fact that the church did NOT hold any raffle of a doll or anything else on April 6 or on any other day.

We finance our church by the one plan taught in the Bible. That is by tithes and offerings. That plan has never failed and none of us individually or otherwise have gone bankrupt from it.

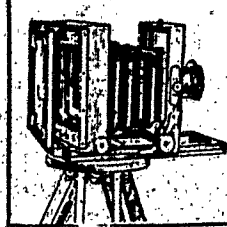

I have read the Bible through many times and have found nothing in it to justify gambling. I certainly did not find anything in the Old Testament references that he gave in his letter.

It's true the Bible does tell us that the soldiers cast lots for Jesus' garments at the cross, but it does not mean that they were right in doing so. As for the casting of lots among the apostles for Judas' successor, that could have meant no more than voting; I don't recall it saying that anyone won or lost any money from it.

I have much love and respect for Dr. Barber. I consider him to be a devout Christian man with deep convictions, and I support him wholeheartedly in his stand on gambling.

I would like to know what the writer of the letter was implying in what he said about hypocrites.

National Space Technology Laboratories' personnel applauded, chuckled nervously, cheered during Tuesday's successful Space Shuttle orbiter landing in California. The orbiter's booster engines and liquid propellant tank were tested at NSTL. After flying a 54-hour mission the orbiter 'Columbia' glided into the Earth's atmosphere and landed on Roger's Dry Lake in Mojave Desert near Edwards Air Force Base at 12:20:52 p.m. CST.

Some $177,000 in funds have been approved for construction of a water pump and additional water distribution lines in the Rocky Hill, Fire Tower Road area of Hancock County, a spokesman from Congressman Trent Lott's office said recently.

Restrictions on rebuilding piers on the North Beach section of the seawall were lifted by the board of supervisors Monday since the Corps of Engineers has discarded the sand berm plan for seawall protection in that area. The north strip of the seawall was not as severely damaged in last fall's hurricane, and they can't find suitable sand in the Bay for dredging a berm, anyway.

Winning 12 of 15 events, Bay High's track team outclassed four of the Gulf Coast Conference's top schools last Tuesday afternoon at Long Beach. The Tigers totaled 68 points; Long Beach 36, Hancock North Central 31.5 and Pass Christian 29.5.

Bay St. Louis is gathering forces to oppose Waveland's annexation proposals. City Commission Council at its meeting Monday conferred with Sam L. Favre Jr., city attorney, about procedure in protesting its interest in the case. It seems apparent that as soon as the Town of Waveland files its annexation plans in Chancery Court next month, the city will enter its protest and call for a hearing.

Mark Solomon, graduate of Bay High School last year and freshman at University of Mississippi, won the Freshman medal last week for declamation, his essay, "The Diminishing World." He won this over a class of twenty-five contestants, and won in the finals of four students. Mark is the son of Mrs. Margaret Bachman, of Bay St. Louis, and this merit comes to him well deserved.

Waveland resident lauds Frilot's improvement efforts

Dear Editor,

As a property owner one and one-half blocks off Hwy. 90 and a block and a half from the sewerage line, I am so glad Mayor Stella Frilot has started the ball rolling to get sewerage to all of Waveland.

City Hall needed a facelift. Now the board of aldermen will have a decent place to meet, and one can go and make complaints in comfort.

Mayor Frilot is a full-time, eight-hour-a-day mayor, so let's give her a chance.

Rome was not built in a day. It will take time, cooperation and a lot of luck to get Waveland the way most of us would like to have it.

Then, maybe Waveland would not be called a suburb of New Orleans.

ON PATROL

GRAND LARCENY

Bay St. Louis Police Detective Gus Aime reported Tuesday the arrest of a Bay St. Louis resident on a grand larceny charge. Aime said Kent Gyins, 24, was arrested Monday and charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft Saturday of a radar detector from a car at the Jr. Food Store at the corner of Main Street and St. Francis. The detector was valued at about $129, Aime reported.

He said Gyins is incarcerated in the Hancock County Jail under $1,000 bond.

BURGLARY OF AN OCCUPIED BUILDING

Three Bay St. Louis residents were arrested Monday in connection with the Sunday burglary of a residence at 637 Union Street, according to Bay St. Louis Detective Gus Aime. Aime said Lovell Dedeaux, 20, Adam Noel Darneshborough, 18, and a 16-year-old juvenile were arrested and charged for the burglary, in which a $50 clock radio was taken.

Dedeaux and Darneshborough are incarcerated in the Hancock County Jail under $10,000 bond, and the juvenile was turned over to Youth Court authorities, Aime added.

RAPE/BURGLARY

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Matt Karl reported Monday the arrest of a Fenton resident on rape and burglary charges.

Karl said Ervin E. Cuevas, 22, was arrested and charged with rape and burglary Friday around 8:10 p.m. According to the sheriff's department report, Deputy George Burleson arrested Cuevas, who allegedly committed the rape and then took some cash from the victim's house.

Cuevas is incarcerated in the Hancock County jail under $50,000 bond, Karl said.

He added that Deputy Kenny Hurt is assisting in the investigation.

Tips offered for reducing waste

With emphasis on environmental issues and saving our earth for future generations, most of us are looking for ways to do our part. One concrete way is to reduce the amount of waste generated in our homes.

Dr. Jack Carol, Mississippi State University, will be speaking on this topic Wednesday, April 24, 10:45 a.m. The one-hour program will be held in the meeting room, Hancock Human Services Complex, Longfellow Drive, Bay St. Louis.

The program is free and open to any interested individual. Call 467-5456 for any additional information.

Chronic Fatigue Syndrome or Fibrositis?

Nearly everyone has heard something about the Chronic Fatigue Syndrome (CFS). It seems to be in the news all the time, and the news doesn't always seem good.

Basically the syndrome is, as the name implies, marked by a profound sense of tiredness. Not only after a day of work, but even in the morning. In fact, the sensation of fatigue may be so overwhelming that going to work at all may become nearly impossible.

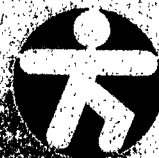

There are a number of other symptoms that are common, such as low-grade fevers, swollen lymph glands, muscle aches or weakness and of course, joint pain. Sleep problems are also frequent.

There are a lot of theories about what causes this problem. Several address the possibility of chronic infections such as Epstein-Barr Virus (EBV) or Cytomegalovirus (CMV) playing a role. While these are only theoretical explanations, they have attracted a lot of attention in the media. Unfortunately, and here's where the news isn't always good, there is no real treatment for these viruses.

Fibrositis or Fibromyalgia is a very common syndrome treated very frequently by rheumatologists. Patients are often referred to the rheumatologist after the initial evaluation fails to find an explanation for the patients' complaints. These complaints are almost identical to those of CFS patients, leading many experts to believe that they may be the same disease. Fortunately, there are good treatments available for Fibromyalgia and many patients report cures!

If you or someone you know is suffering with these problems, we may be able to help. Ask your family doctor for a referral or call our office for an appointment.

Police car, Honda collide

Mississippi State Highway Patrol Sergeant Hershel Ladner reported Waveland Police Officer Kendall Ladner collided with Benford W.J. Creado of Bay St. Louis at the intersection of Highways 90 and 603 Monday at 12:09 a.m. during heavy rains. Creado attempted a left turn onto Hwy. 90 and failed to see the blue lights of the police vehicle as it responded to an emergency call.

Janelle Piazza of Waveland was a passenger with Creado. Ladner said all three of the people involved were taken to Hancock Medical Center by Mobile Medic complaining of joint injuries and released following treatment.

Ladner said, the accident was still under investigation.

Fourth dead dolphin found in Bay St. Louis

A baby bottlenose dolphin found dead in Bay St. Louis Tuesday may or may not have been killed by sharks, according to officials at Stennis Space Center.

Dwight Bradshaw, senior research biologist at the Mississippi State University Research Center at SSC, said the badly decomposed and partly chewed-through dolphin may have washed ashore as early as Friday. It was found behind the Dock of the Bay restaurant and lounge on Beach Boulevard.

The dolphin — which was about four feet long, weighed an estimated 25 to 30 pounds and was between three and six months old, according to Bradshaw — is the largest of four found in Hancock County so far this year.

Jeff Brown, fishery biologist for the National Marine Fisheries Service Southeast Region in St. Petersburg, Fla., said this is the peak of the stranding season, when female dolphins die of complications from pregnancy and baby dolphins may be stillborn or die shortly after birth.

Bradshaw said dolphins will sometimes virtually swim ashore in pursuit of a meal, which means a live dolphin found in shallow water is not necessarily stranded.

Bradshaw said that if you find a live stranded dolphin you should keep it wet and the blow hole free of water until help arrives.

Hancock County dolphin sightings can be reported by calling Bradshaw at 688-3227 or 467-2367.

moral obligation to provide the lateral line at no cost to the home owner since "the home owner believed sewer and water lines were included when he bought his property."

Commissioner Herb Pritzlaff said, "Through all of my real estate transactions in my life, I have learned, it's owner beware."

Pritzlaff added the commission held no responsibility for what was told to the home owner at the time of property purchase.

Commission attorney Stephen Guice, suggested to Smith that the home owner take his grievance to the developer who sold him the property under those conditions.

The commission said many areas within the Diamond-heard community were excluded of the lateral sewer lines.

Commission chairman Edward Dabler resigned his seat as chairman at the end of the Monday meeting. The commission accepted his resignation and appointed Pritzlaff as temporary chairman until time a full attendance of commissioners was available for a vote.

Waller's works on display at Bay St. Louis City Hall

Special to the Echo
The City of Bay St. Louis will exhibit the artworks of Zita Waller during the month of April.

Shown in the first floor reception area of City Hall, Mrs. Waller's oil paintings of Deep South plantations and local water scenes create a stunning view of the South through the eyes of a Massachusetts native. Lush moss-draped oaks frame the plantation homes of a bygone era with a sepia quality that stimulates the imagination of the viewer to see that most loved home hanging over the brick fireplace in the 1700-1800's.

Crisp morning blues and greens set the mood of Waller's water views. The observer searches for the mullet to jump. Waller moved with her family to New Orleans in 1967 and immediately became enchanted with Southern life and the plantations of Louisiana and Mississippi. She spends part of her leisure time traveling and photographing the history of her two adopted states.

The casual, relaxed atmosphere of Bay St. Louis prompted the purchase of a second home to pursue her love of painting. Her local studio lies behind the branches of a large live oak and is surrounded by azaleas encouraging the serenity of her paintings.

Many of Waller's award winning works hang in private collections in California, Wisconsin, Missouri, Massachusetts, Virginia, Maryland, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Locally her works may be seen at Serenity or Ruth's Bakery.

A Bay St. Louis resident is among three Slidell Art League members exhibiting their work at various locations throughout April.

Jean Van Peski's work may be viewed at Hibernia National Bank, 550 Pontchartrain Drive. Van Peski says art should express the creative mood and impressions of the artist.

Even as a child, Van Peski enjoyed sketching and possessed a fascination with color.

A self-taught artist, she completed the "Famous Artists" correspondence course in fine arts painting in 1967 and studied briefly with the late Earle Debries of Pass Christian.

Van Peski paints her surroundings in an impressionistic style. The dramatic sunsets on the marsh, wild fowl, and tranquil woodland scenes are portrayed in a vast array of brilliant colors with brush and palette knife.

Her paintings hang in private collections along the Gulf Coast, Slidell, Georgia and California.

At Hibernia National Bank, Elaine Babin is showing mixed media work, and Ella Schunior is displaying oil paintings in the lobby of The Daily SENTRY-News.

'Bells Are Ringing' closes Slidell Little Theatre season

Slidell Little Theatre's closing musical of the season will be "Bells Are Ringing." Award-winning director Allen Little and cast are working together to bring on stage a fantastic production.

Bells Are Ringing is a comedy about the life and romance of a telephone answering service operator who has a tendency to get overly involved in the lives of her customers. She has even fallen in love with one of the clients whom she has never seen.

There are funny subplots when the service gets set up as a bookie joint and when the police starts closing in. All this confusion gets meshed together with the romance for a delightful and entertaining musical with memorable songs like "The Party's Over" and "Hello, Hello There."

Ella will be played by Kit McLellan and Jeff by Myron Miller. Members in the large cast are Helen Joffe, Sandy Effler, Steve Pena, Joe Sanders, Craig Fisher, Terrence Foster, Ivan Biernacke, Lee Dukes, Blair Miller and Erika Williams.

Other supporting members are R. Michelle Craddock, Helen Klein, Sylvia Lehr, Juanita Bentley, Judy Bolt, John Dunn, Bonnie Adams, Mahmoud DeLeon and Joan Archer.

Mary Sewell is the musical director and Steve Pena is choreographer. "Bells Are Ringing" will be performed April 26 through May 12, with two shows on May 5 and May 12. For reservations call (601) 641-0324.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Many crawfish devotees insist that there is no better way to eat the tasty "mudbugs" than boiled, along with potatoes and onions and ears of corn, highly seasoned, of course, and I'm enjoying that treat these days to the fullest!

But, for a tastier than tasty dish, if you can manage to save some boiled crawfish out from the hungry horde, is "Crawfish Etouffee"—or Smothered Crawfish, Bayou Style.

Braising or "smothering" seafood, meats and poultry is a cooking method which Creole and Cajun and Southern cuisine ways have brought to perfection. When food is "smothered" in this way, the cook uses very little water or stock or wine, just enough to cover a piece of meat, for instance, and slowly "smothers" it by simmering very slowly over a low flame, in a heavy, tightly covered pot, making sure to keep it short of the boiling point. And, one of the most delectable of these smothered dishes is:

CRAWFISH ETOUFFEE

There are many versions of crawfish etouffee, just as in gumbo and jambalaya and such, but I like best the true Bayou Cajun version.

Some cooks add tomatoes, others start with a roux; that's the fun of much Creole and Cajun cookery: just stir it all together in a pot, according to your fancy and what's in your larder; season it well and enjoy!

Today's dish is that sort of recipe, with quantities and such depending upon the amount of crawfish and of hungry mouths on hand!

First, of course, pick the crawfish tails meat out of the shells, trying not to munch as you go, else there won't be much left for the etouffee. For each pound of the cleaned tails you'll need three or four green onions, with their tops, chopped, along with chopped fresh parsley for garnish (and I like to add a spoon or so of chopped parsley to the dish itself as well. You'll need black pepper and salt and cayenne, and, of course, a dash or so of hot pepper sauce, and some oil.

So pour into your heavy skillet or pot just enough oil to cover the bottom of the skillet, and heat just until smoking hot. Add the onions, and saute a bit, and if you've any of the crawfish fat on hand, toss some in, for extra flavor, along with a little water.

Add the crawfish tails, pepper and salt. Cover the pot tightly, and let the whole business simmer, or "smother" for approximately 15 minutes. As the crawfish smother in their own juices, they deepen in color, just as if you had added tomato sauce, as some cooks do; but along the bayous of Louisiana for the most part, as well as along our Gulf Coast, cooks such as I prefer just the flavor of the crawdads cooked down in their own juices. Increase quantities as needed, with hot rice as the accompaniment, along with crusty hot French bread.

DOWN HOME

By Darlene Underwood

Provide a nutritious breakfast with a little effort planning

Does this ever happen at your house? On Monday, you have good intentions of getting the kids off to school with a nutritious breakfast. But by Thursday, anybody who gets more than juice as they head out door is lucky.

Adults aside, research shows that children who miss breakfast do not make up the missed nutrients in meals during the day. By taking a few simple steps, youngsters can start the mornings well nourished.

First of all, be flexible about what constitutes a good breakfast. Children don't always want traditional breakfast foods, especially first thing in the morning.

They might prefer leftovers from last night's supper, pizza and milk, a bowl of soup, a sandwich, or fruit, cheese and crackers.

For easy meal planning, establish a breakfast pattern with your children. Let them select different foods that fit the pattern each day.

A simple but nourishing breakfast pattern includes milk, fruit or fruit juice, bread and/or cereal, and maybe meat or a meat alternate, such as peanut butter, eggs or nuts.

Milk, the major food source of calcium is necessary for fast growing bones. Children can eat other foods that provide calcium, but it is difficult to meet total calcium needs without drinking at least two glasses of milk each day.

Serve milk as a beverage or on a cereal. Choose skim or low-fat milk for children more than age 2. Since chocolate milk contains caffeine and is usually high in sugar, guide children to use plain milk most often, and reserve chocolate milk or cocoa for occasional use.

Cup of yogurt contains as much calcium as milk and is a good choice to vary the menu. Fruit-flavored yogurt is high in sugar. You can make your own low-sugar version by mixing plain (lowfat) yogurt with fruit of your choice.

Breakfast is a good time to serve vitamin C foods, such as oranges, grapefruit, or other citrus fruits. Other good choices are seasonal fruits such as strawberries, blueberries, kiwi, watermelon, and cantaloupe.

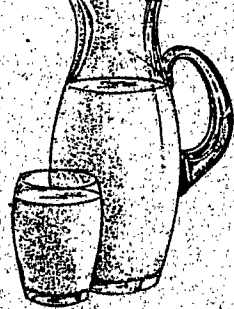

By cutting fresh fruit into small pieces the night before, children enjoy using toothpicks to spear fruit for snacking. Serve whole, thawed frozen juice in the refrigerator the night before. A child can mix the juice then. Plan to have a variety of breads and cereals on hand. Most keep well for several months if stored properly.

Save the ready-to-eat cereals for those really rushed mornings. Since many of the dry cereals marketed to children are high in sugar, either avoid them or mix them with more nutritious (and less sugary) ones.

Let older children help select the better cereals, by comparing labels for sugar content per serving.

From Amy Bostyn, M.Ed.

Making quick breads, such as muffins, from scratch is easy when you mix the dry ingredients together the night before. Leftover muffins freeze well, and single portions can be removed from the container as needed.

Look for quick bread recipes that are relatively low in fat and sugar and high in nutritious ingredients, such as whole wheat, bran or bran cereal, oatmeal, blueberries, cranberries, raisins, carrots, pumpkins, sweet potatoes and nuts.

Limit commercial bakery products, such as doughnuts and sweet rolls, which are usually high in fat and/or sugar.

Hot cereals such as oatmeal, cream of wheat, and cream of rice can be ready in an instant if you mix the cereal and liquid the night before right in the saucepan and refrigerate. The next morning, cook the cereal over low heat while you are getting dressed.

Make hot cereal even more nutritious by mixing it with milk instead of water. Try adding chopped apple, pear, banana, raisins, and either allspice, cinnamon, or nutmeg to oatmeal. Try adding shredded cheese to cream of wheat or cream of rice just before serving.

If all else fails hand your crew plastic bags of graham crackers and peanut butter or sliced cheese to go with that juice as they dash out the door.

REFRIGERATOR-BRAND MUFFINS
1 box (10 oz.) raisin bran
1 cup sugar, reduce by 1/4 or 1/3

5 cups flour (can substitute up to 1/2 whole wheat flour)

Diamondhead tennis pros Magnus Ecklund and Mark Lohan are scheduling several tennis clinics and camps in the coming weeks.

The first, a free clinic at Tennis World (at the Diamondhead Country Club), is set for April 27, 9 a.m., and is open to both juniors and adults. It will include a clinic, exhibition, games and prize giveaway.

The Magnus Ecklund Tennis School will have four five-day sessions, in which youth ages 7-17 can learn stroke techniques and the mental game while participating in drills and games.

Open to beginning, intermediate and advanced tennis players, the camps are scheduled for June 3-7 and 10-14, July 15-19 and August 5-9. The camp will run from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. each day, with lunch from 11 to 12.

Sessions will include four hours of instruction each day, video filming and a camp tournament with awards and prizes. Participants will receive a camp t-shirt.

Ecklund and Lohan are camp directors.

The Moortgat/Ecklund Junior Tennis Camp will be held June 17-21 for tennis players (beginners to ranked juniors) ages 9-18.

The camp will include five hours of instruction each day; stroke production and video filming; mental toughness and concentration techniques; strategy, tactics and nutritional knowledge; tennis aerobics and physical conditioning and night activities. Supervised housing will be provided at Diamondhead Inn, and three daily meals are included.

The staff will include Jim Moortgat, tennis coach at Sanford University in Birmingham, Ala., who has coached nationally and internationally ranked players for the past 12 years; Joakim Appelqvist, a top Swedish player who has won over the 100 world-ranked players and is an ATP Satellite tour player; Magnus Ecklund, head tennis professional at Diamondhead, former director of Sallabackens Tennis Academy in Stockholm, Sweden, and coach for the past 11 years for nationally ranked players; and Mark Lohan, tennis professional at Diamondhead and former Nick Bollettieri instructor.

For more information on any of these clinics and camps, call 255-2525.

Bay St. Louis student plays soccer in Mexico

Eddie Bourgeois, of Bay St. Louis, was among a team of some 14 University of Southern Mississippi soccer players who battled their way to a second place finish in a recent tournament in Monterey, Mexico.

"We spent a week mostly playing soccer in a tournament hosted by the Monterey Institute of Technology," said USM Soccer Coach Frank Glamser.

According to Glamser, the tournament included Guadalajara University, which won the 1989-90 Mexican national championship for private universities. Glamser also said the tournament fielded American teams from the University of Houston and Texas A&M.

"USM played a warm-up game with Monterey's alumni team and beat them 2-0," Glamser reported. They went on to defeat the Guadalajara team 1-0, and the University of Houston team 3-1, he said. But USM fell to the host Monterey team by the score of 3-0, placing second in the overall tournament standings.

PRC basketball camp planned for June 17-21

Pearl River Community College Wildcat Basketball Camp will be June 17-21 in Poplarville.

Emphasis will be on skills, strategy, individual competition, scrimmage games, lectures and films.

Camp activities will be supervised by the camp staff, comprised of high school coaches. PRC basketball team members will be camp counselors.

Registration is June 17, 7:30-9 a.m. Camp begins at 9. Cost for a full-time camper is $100, which includes housing, meals, insurance, awards and T-shirts. A day camper (no housing and one meal per day) may attend the camp for $75, which includes noon meal each day, insurance, awards and T-shirts.

Celebrating on the run

Bay couple observes anniversary in Crescent City Classic 10-K race

BY TRACI BONNEY

For a couple brought together not by a glass slipper but by running shoes, the Crescent City Classic seemed a fitting way to celebrate a six-month wedding anniversary.

Bay St. Louis residents Mark and Maureen Koch spent one of the first milestones of their marriage April 6 vying with about 30,000 competitors in the annual New Orleans event.

It's only appropriate that the Kochs celebrated their anniversary with a race. Mark said, "We met through running."

Mark finished the 10-kilometer (6.21 miles) race 79th overall, with a personal record time of 34:58. Maureen crossed the line less than five minutes later, at 39:15, to finish 382nd overall and 14th among the female competitors.

Maureen, who is in the Air Force, has been running on the Gulf Coast for five years and ran in the Boston Marathon in 1988, according to her husband. (Maureen was in a conference in Ohio at the time of the interview and was unavailable.)

Carey names scholar/athletes

Steve Knight, athletic director at William Carey College, has announced several William Carey athletes have qualified for the Gulf Coast Athletic Conference Honor Roll.

Qualification is based on grade point average. The athletes who have qualified for the honor roll are members of the men and women's basketball teams and the men and women's soccer teams.

Students on the men's basketball team are Erik Dukes, New Orleans, and Micah Necaise, Bay St. Louis.

Students on the women's basketball team are Amy Flynt, Mt. Olive; Tracy Jones, Laurel; Shona McLaurin, Richton; and Tina Necaise, Pass Christian.

Junior Fishing Rodeo scheduled for April 20

The 5th annual Junior Fishing Rodeo, sponsored by Quad S. Company, is scheduled for Saturday, April 20 at Stennis Space Center.

Steve Walters, chairman of the rodeo, said last year's event drew about 250 youngsters age 10 through 15.

The rodeo will start at 7 a.m. and end at 3:30 p.m. Registration will take place at the gateway.

In case of rain, the rodeo will be held Sunday, April 21.

Prizes will be given for the largest fish caught in the 1-8 age group and the 9-15 age group. A prize also will be given for the largest fish caught in the rodeo.

The kinds of fish caught in last year's rodeo included perch, catfish, gar, mullet and bass.

Prizes include savings bonds for $100, $75 and $50; rods and reels; and other fishing equipment.

There is no admission fee. Soft drinks and food will be sold.

Walters said, "I want to encourage kids from Bay St. Louis and Waveland to come on out.

Parents are welcome, too."

TIME OUT

In both Pass Christian VFW darts team games April 4, the score was 11-7, but the Vets were on the low side of the score, while the Stars and Stripes won their match.

In the last game of the winter league season, the Desperados of K's Lounge in Gulfport scored 11 to the Vets' 7. Men's high was Abner Donnan of the Desperados with a score of 121. Men's high out also went to a Desperado, Delmo Trahan, who scored 40. Ladies' high was Audrey Bell of the Vets with a 72.

Meanwhile, the Stars and Stripes defeated 50+ from Bayou Oaks. Men's high was a tie between Bobby Bates and Bill Niolet, both of Stars and Stripes. Men's high out was Lloyd Reintart of 50+. Ladies' high and high out were both captured by Bobby Rober's of 50+.

The Stars and Stripes made the league playoffs with their win, and went on to take the Silver League championship. In the playoff, the Pass Christian team represented the west division and won against the east division team, the Hackers of Hugo's in Biloxi. Stars and Stripes captured two of three games, winning 10-4 and 10-9.

The spring and summer league darts season begins April 25.

The Pass Christian Isles Ladies Golf Club held its Merry Widows Two-Day Scramble April 13 and 14. Winners were: Connie April, Mamie Calmes, Helen Smith, Georgia Price, Pat Warman, Shirley Sessum, Evelyn Blais, Mary Delligatti, Pat Bartman and Heather Thomas.

At the club's low gross, low net Ladies' Day play April 16, winners were:

Story earns top honors in karate competition

The 27th annual All South Karate Championship tournament was held at the UNO gym in New Orleans March 29.

Ronald Storey, a student of Waveland Gulf Coast Shotokan Karate, placed first in fighting in the 14-15-year-old advanced color belt division.

Competitors were from a five-state area. Storey, under the direction of black belt instructor Rannie Ladner, also took first in fighting in his division in January in Mandeville, La.

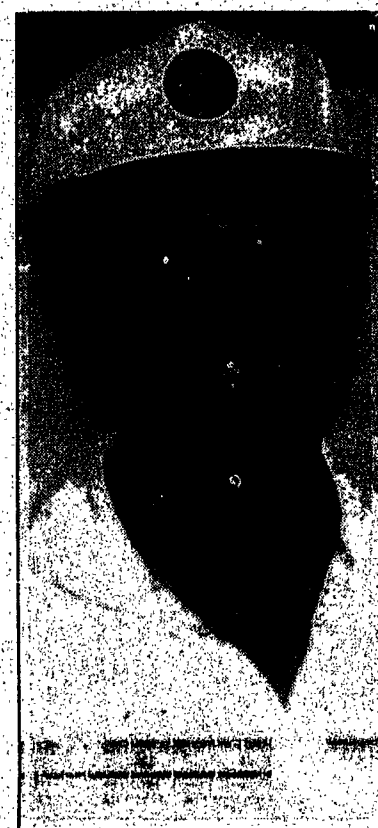

Storey, of Bay St. Louis, was the only student representing Gulf Coast Shotokan, which teaches karate as a sport as well as a martial art.

Students from Gulf Coast Shotokan are training for regional competition in Monroe, La.

Catholic Bishop Howze discusses dockside gambling

Special to the Echo
By Bishop Joseph

Over the past two weeks I have received letters, properly signed and with return addresses, and telephone calls from people in Bay St. Louis, registering their concern about the inevitable dangers involved in dockside gambling casinos being constructed on the beach front of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Those who have written and called have requested more vocal opposition to dockside gambling from the bishop and area priests.

Each time I have spoken with these individuals, regarding their concerns, I have reminded them that I have written columns in the Gulf Pine Catholic twice within the past year on the issue of gambling. (The Gulf Pine Catholic is the official diocesan publication through which I speak to the people of the diocese).

Since there continues to be much discussion and concern about dockside gambling, I am addressing the subject of gambling again.

Gambling may be defined as the staking of money or other valuables on a future event, chance or contingency that is unknown or uncertain to the participants.

Gambling is more inclusive than "gaming" because wagers may be placed on any uncertain social or physical contingency, such as the outcome of an election, horse race, dog race or ball game.

"Lottery" is one form of gambling in which prizes are distributed by "lot" or chance among persons who have paid for a chance to win.

Moralists distinguish gambling from other forms of speculation and insurance, in that insurance performs a useful social service by stabilizing the market and shifting the incidence of loss or gain due to economic changes that would take place in any event.

On the other hand, gambling increases instability, creates risks that serve no corresponding economic needs, and adds losses to some and equivalent gains to others that would not occur in the absence of the gambling transaction.

Some critics of gambling say gambling inevitably produces an unchristian outlook on life. It is directly in contrast to the Christian view, which believes that the universe is controlled by the loving providence of Almighty God.

The first duty of people is to learn what God's will is and to be obedient to it. Anything that suggests that our lives are controlled by "luck" is an evil thing, for it undermines man's faith in God and teaches that obedience to God's law does not matter.

While the Church has never condemned gambling outright, she has constantly called for moderation. In itself, playing the stock market is not considered wrong, but, like gambling, it may easily lead one to squander large sums of money, which are necessary for one's family or the payment of one's debts, in the hope of becoming wealthy with little effort and without long delay.

Gambling may become a sin, and a very serious sin, when it goes to an excess that would destroy personal honesty or expose a person to losses so great as to jeopardize society and, above all, his or her family dependents.

Sound Christian morals follow the rule of reason—not condemning outright what is not evil in itself, yet strongly reprobating the abuse of an otherwise good, or at least indifferent, thing.

It is hard to defend those who gamble regularly or who are described as compulsive gamblers.

Compulsive gambling is an illness with deep psychological and emotional roots. The recognizable characteristics of a compulsive gambler are: dependence, loss of control, progression and indebtedness.

The compulsive gambler has developed a need to gamble and finds himself or herself betting when he or she didn't intend to, losing more than he or she had planned to lose, until gradually his or her life becomes unmanageable.

As legitimate sources dry up, the compulsive gambler borrows from family, friends and finance companies. He or she will go to whomever or wherever he or she can to beg, borrow or steal.

Compulsive gambling has a wide and costly social dimension. Every compulsive gambler affects family, friends, employers and fellow workers with his or her gambling problems.

Compulsive gambling can make a respectable, successful individual turn to crimes such as embezzlement, forgery, fraud or other "white collar" crimes which cost Americans billions of dollars.

The Commission on the Review of the National Policy Toward Gambling has established the following points:

1. Legalized gambling does not generate the amount of revenue for the state promised by those who lobbied for its adoption.
2. Legalized gambling does not lower taxes.
3. Illegal gambling increases when gambling is made legal.
4. Easy access to betting generates more compulsive gamblers than ever before.

Proponents of dockside gambling on the Coast say the games will attract thousands of tourists and these tourists will have a large positive effect on the economy of hotels, restaurants and other businesses.

To accommodate this expected influx of people, the capabilities of law enforcement, transportation, roads, and streets must be studied to prepare for the many situations which can arise.

What can be done to bring an end to the dilemma of gambling and/or compulsive gambling? Those who have been able to kick the habit say, "You must quit in order to get even."

Outlawing all gambling would be no more successful than Prohibition was for controlling alcohol abuse. But we can do some things.

1. We can have education programs in our schools and churches.

2. We can use every legitimate means to recall the gambling law which has been passed.

The negative side of the proposed positive effects of dockside gambling will include an increase in all types of crime, and all the other problems associated with an influx of a large number of people.

We must consider all the pros and cons, what can and what cannot be done, with regard to the issue of dockside gambling.

Youth Task Force plans car show

The Hancock County Youth Task Force Committee will host a car show and day of fun at the county fairgrounds on Longfellow Road Sunday, April 28, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This event, which will feature a volleyball tournament, games, a live band, a raffle, food, and a hot rod show that will include cars owned by area youth, is being produced to raise funds for a county youth center.

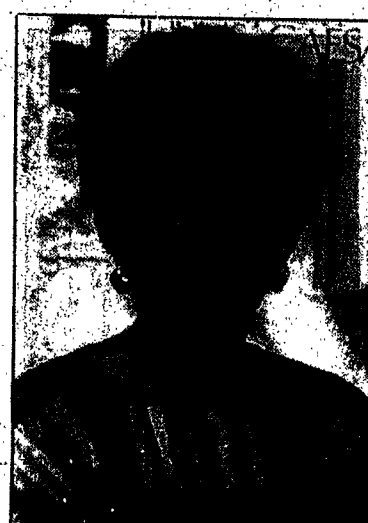

In speaking of the motive behind the fundraiser, Bay St. Louis Police Officer Don Oco said, "The children and young people of our community want a place of their own, a place where they can sit down and talk with people their own age, a place to play basketball and games, a safe place to skateboard or hold dances. As you know, there is no such place in Hancock County for our youth to enjoy these things safely."

For tickets or more information, contact Oco at the Bay St. Louis Police Department. Tickets are also available at Lakeshore Body Shop.

Although food and drinks will be sold, no alcoholic beverages will be sold on the premises.

Smith attends workshop

CARRIE SMITH

Carrie Smith, Bay High English teacher, attended a workshop of Shakespeare and theatre held recently in Jackson. New Stage Theatre hosted the workshop for Mississippi teachers.

The "Teaching Shakespeare" workshop was modeled after the Teaching Shakespeare Institute at the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C. Teachers participating in Shakespeare interpretation sessions with the New Stage Theatre "Shakescenes on Tour" Company.

The workshop presented new and interesting ways to teach Shakespeare to high school students. New Stage Theatre staff worked with the teachers to enhance the existing curriculum in literature and to encourage students to explore the language and meaning of specific Shakespearean scenes.

New Stage Theatre is Mississippi's only professional non-profit theatre.

to apply for a building permit for the lodge.

The council also heard from Carroll Gordon, who was met with expressions of amusement and gratitude when he said he was glad to bring the board something "noncontroversial."

Gordon, who was selected as chairman of the mayor's Blue Ribbon Committee, said the committee is ready to start interviewing applicants for the city study. The committee, set up by Mayor Edward Favre in February after two public hearings about proposed dockside gambling-related zoning ordinances, will work with consultants in compiling and reviewing a comprehensive study of several issues affecting the city, including zoning.

The committee and consultants are expected to formulate zoning proposals after completing their study.

Gordon also told the council the committee wants to have access to the study proposal advertisement, the responses to that advertisement, and documentation of the tapes and written comments amassed from the public hearings. The council agreed with his requests.

Other matters addressed by the council included:

- presenting Father Peter Mockler and other representatives of St. Joseph's Chapel with a resolution honoring the 95th anniversary of the chapel;

- approving an application by J. Alvin Triche for a special property subdivision;

- authorizing clerk of council Michael Cuevas to attend a two-day Small Business Workshop at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce;

- opening and taking under advisement bids for road materials, water meters, culverts, concrete, hydrants, sewer and water fittings, oil and tune-ups, gas fittings and asphalt;

- and authorizing the city to pay the remainder of a loan for a water pumper, which the city was not expected to finish paying for until 1994.

The council recessed until April 25, 6 p.m., to approve bids. The council also plans to hold a workshop meeting that night to discuss zoning proposals.

Supervisors

The board also approved a proposal that will allow the Hancock County Youth Court to use the Jackson County Youth Shelter for housing at a rate of about $13 per day per child.

Other matters addressed by the board included:

- approving a $9,500 total bid for materials to build a concession stand at the Necaise Crossing ballfield;

- declaring the Lower Bay Road paving/stripping project officially complete;

- approving the April 1-15 payroll and the commissioners payroll;

- and approving a list of business resolutions from the Port and Harbor Commission.

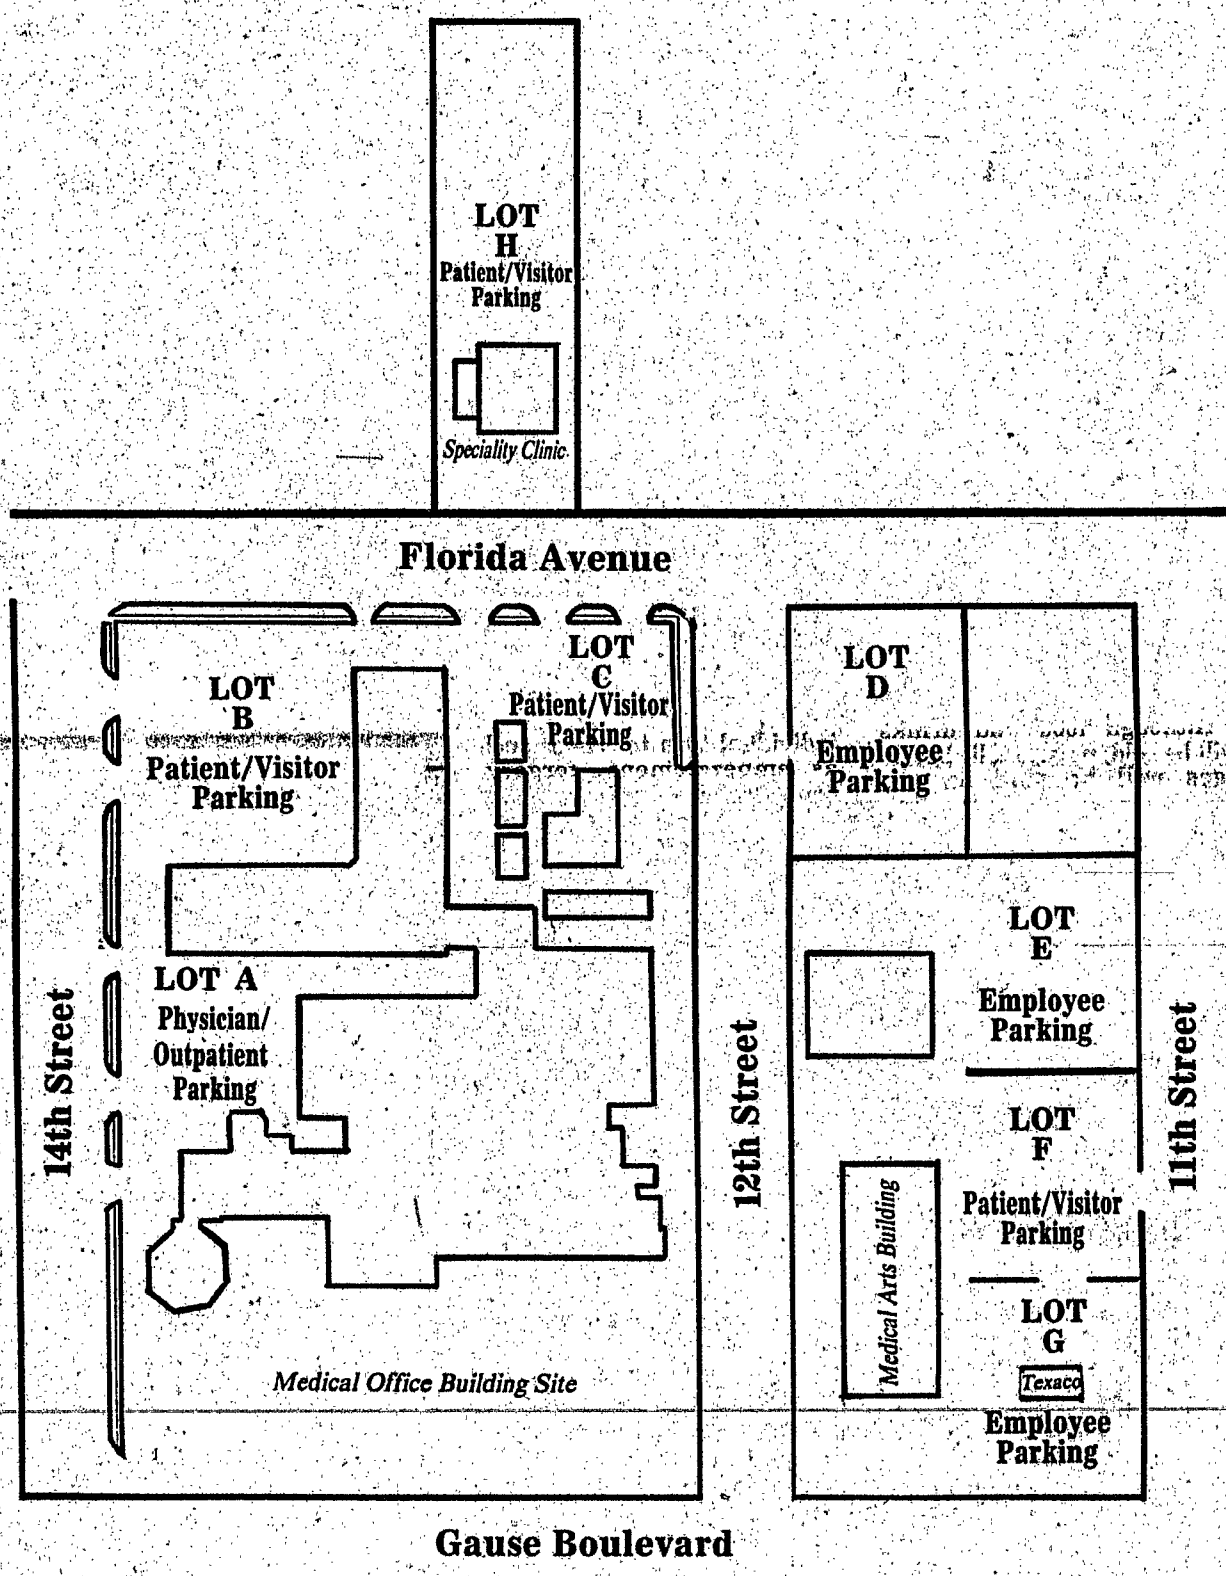

The board adjourned until 9 a.m. May 6.

New business

U.S. Congressman Gens Taylor, third from left, was the featured speaker for groundbreaking ceremonies for Hall Craft Woods, a new 48 by 78 foot craft shop located in Shoreline Park near Bayou La Croix. Among those participating in the groundbreaking are, from left, Lawrence Abrams and Ted Godard, Service Corps of Retired Executives Association (SCORE); Congressman Taylor; Jan and Brad Hall, owners; and Charles A. Gillis, U.S. Small Business Administration area branch manager. The Halls were assisted by Taylor, Gillis and SCORE in securing a SBA loan for the construction of the shop which is expected to be completed within two months. The Halls plan on hiring a certain number of disabled persons. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

PARDON OUR PROGRESS!

DESIGNATED PARKING AREAS TO IMPROVE PATIENT/VISITOR PARKING DURING CONSTRUCTION

During the construction of our four-story Medical Office Building and Parking Garage, Slidell Memorial Hospital has taken steps to ensure patient and visitor parking will be adequate and easily accessed on the hospital campus.

Designated parking areas exclusively for patients and visitors have been added on the Florida Avenue side of the Slidell Memorial Hospital campus. All employees will be parking off-campus to provide the maximum number of on-campus parking spots for our patients and visitors.

These changes should ease parking constraints caused by the construction on the Gause Boulevard side of our campus. We want to make every effort to provide convenient parking facilities for our patients and visitors.

Construction of our Medical Office Building and Parking Garage will begin in April and continue through July 1992. As we enter this period of additional growth, we ask your continued support and patience. If you have any questions about the new parking areas, please call our Public Relations Department at (504) 649-8510.

Two hurt in three-car wreck

BY TRACI BONNEY

A Bay St. Louis man and a Pearlinton woman were injured in a three-car accident on Hwy. 90 Monday, according to Waveland Police Officer James Varnell.

Varnell said the incident occurred about 4:28 p.m. Monday and involved Vernon E. Hinyub, 71, of Bay St. Louis; Ethel D. Necaise, 39, also of Bay St. Louis; and Evelyn A. Green, 34, of Pearlinton.

According to the report, Necaise was westbound on Hwy. 90 when Hinyub pulled out in front of her. Varnell said Necaise hit her brakes but couldn't avoid contact with Hinyub's car.

After striking Hinyub's car,

Varnell said, Necaise's car skidded and hit Green's car, which was in the Hwy. 90 turn lane by Monti Electric.

Hinyub and Green were transported by Mobile Medic to Hancock Medical Center. Hinyub with broken bones and Green with back injuries. Varnell reported. He said Necaise did not go from the accident scene to the hospital.

Varnell said Waveland Police Officer Danny Carter Sr. is investigating the incident.

broken off Wednesday and the railroad side was being represented by the National Railroad Labor Conference.

McKay said he was not at liberty to discuss the individual issues, for fear it may hinder any progress.

David Lange, a spokesperson for the National Labor Conference, was unable to locate any information concerning the elimination of the seniority districts or on the corporate district issues.

Lange did answer that the railroads have refused commuter lines and Amtrak usage of company tracks for reasons of practicality.

"When there is a strike," Lange said, "the tracks can get blocked because the freight cars are not moving as fast."

"There is no place to just park the cars. Amtrak understands this."

McKay reported the last Amtrak run would arrive in Miami Wednesday evening and then stop until after the strike.

Amtrak representative could not be reached for comment prior to publication.

Lange explained the one other difficulty: the danger of injury during a strike, and the legal liabilities the railroads could incur. "Railroads cannot guarantee the safety of the movers."

Lange said, "The only commuter trains running, to my knowledge, are those which own their own track, and the one in Chicago, which has been kept running by court order."

CSX services for Hancock County extend into the Port Bienville Industrial Park, where GE Plastics is prepared for a short strike according to Randy Read, Human Resources director.

Read said GE Plastics anticipated the strike and prepared with "an adequate supply of raw materials" in order to continue production.

"We don't foresee any impact on production or employment," Read said should the strike continue for too long, they are prepared to use road trucks to move their goods.

Also located in the Industrial Park is Eaglebrook, which produces water treatment chemicals. Production manager Harold Jones Jr. reported Wednesday, "At this time we could have had three cars go out today."

"We have no choice but to use trucking, should this continue much longer."

Buz Olsen, director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission expressed concern over the length of time the strike should last.

"CSX is the only line connecting to our railroad. Our revenues generated off the cars can affect our budget should this last into a month."

On the strike line, Marquar said "We heard they want to put us on a 100-day cooling off period. We hope they don't. We want to get it over with."

A "cooling off" period will force the workers to resume at their jobs and for the railroad companies and the unions to attempt negotiations again.

Red beans 'n rice

Restaurants compete in ACS cookoff Monday

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Red beans and rice...
The Monday meal of choice is offered in most Southern restaurants, truck stops and deli/sandwich shops. Little attention is given to the nutritional value of the inexpensive meal, which turns out to be a healthy choice.

The Hancock County Chapter American Cancer Society has chosen the meal for a cookoff Monday, April 22 among local restaurants.

Patrons will be asked to vote for their favorite recipe on the back of their tickets, with the restaurant receiving the most votes winning "The People's Choice" award.

According to cookoff chairman and clinical dietitian Anne Schmidt, the combination of red beans and rice adds up to a high protein, low fat main course.

"Red beans and rice are a good source of fiber, complex carbohydrates, potassium and magnesium. Their protein value is equivalent to any meat, at a fraction of the cost."

"Fat grams can be held to a minimum by avoiding high fat seasonings. A five-ounce serving of red beans is 167 calories, compared to 500 calories for a five-ounce portion of steak."

The cookoff will feature 10 local restaurants cooking their versions of the popular entree from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. at Christ Episcopal's Virginia Hall, 912 South Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis.

Tickets for the event are $5 each, with all proceeds benefiting American Cancer Society.

Restaurants participating include Angie's, The Cat House, Court Street Cuisine, Diamondhead Yacht Club, Diamondhead Qualidome Resort, Dock of the Bay, Lil' Rays, Mary's Eatery, Old Towne Cafe and The Reef.

Coleslaw for the cookoff will be provided by Layne's Krispy Chicken, William's Pit Barbecue and The Cat House. Bay St. Louis and Waveland grocery stores will contribute freshly baked French bread.

Advance tickets may be purchased from American Cancer Society board members, participating restaurants, The Sea Coast Echo, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Jeanne Anne's Hallmark. They will also be available at the door.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY NUTRITION GUIDELINES

1. Avoid obesity.
2. Cut down on total fat intake.
3. Eat more high-fiber foods such as whole-grain cereals, fruits, and vegetables.
4. Include foods rich in vitamins A and C in your daily diet.
5. Include cruciferous vegetables in your diet.
6. Eat moderately of salt-cured, smoked, and nitrite-cured foods.
7. If you drink, keep alcohol consumption moderate.

Great American Food Fight Against Cancer tips for preparing food

- ▶ Bake, poach, steam, oven-broil, stir-fry, or roast meats, poultry, and fish without using extra fat. Avoid frying, which adds extra fat and calories.
- ▶ Ask your butcher to help you select lean cuts of meat. Trim away all visible fat, and use 2-3 ounce portions. Cut meat into thin slices to look like more. Remove the skin from poultry.
- ▶ Use vegetable cooking sprays instead of frying in fat.
- ▶ Cook vegetables as quickly as possible and use as little liquid as you can.

- ▶ Use herbs and spices, onion, garlic, ginger, lemon and lime juice, and mustard instead of butter, fats, and oil to flavor meats and vegetables.
- ▶ Use the paste method for gravy or sauces. Add flour or cornstarch to cold liquid slowly and blend well. This eliminates the need for fat.
- ▶ After making a soup or stew containing meat or poultry, refrigerate until the fat congeals on the surface. Remove it before heating or serving.
- ▶ Substitute skim or non-fat milk for whole and yogurt for sour cream whenever possible. Choose desserts made with milk or yogurt instead of those made with cream. You might find that you prefer dishes and desserts that aren't too rich.

- ▶ Use "comparison shopping" to select recipes. Pick the recipe that contains the least amount of fat. Even then, most fat in recipes can be reduced by 1/3 to 1/2. This works well for casseroles and main dishes, as well as for quickbreads, muffins, and cakes.
- ▶ Try adding a little bran or wheat germ to recipes, even casseroles and main dishes. Every little bit helps.

Crusade against cancer includes a food fight

April is the month to highlight to fight against cancer. At the forefront is the American Cancer Society's Community Crusade, its annual education, and fundraising campaign.

A new and exciting event has been added to the calendar—the American Cancer Society's Great American Food Fight Against Cancer. This light-hearted event has a serious message: healthier eating choices might lower the risks for certain cancers.

A Food Fight leaflet containing recommendations that could reduce a person's risks for certain cancers is available locally. The American Cancer Society wants people to choose foods rich in vitamins A and C, low in fat, and high in fiber, as well as cruciferous vegetables.

"Research reports have strongly suggested that certain foods, perhaps through their chemical content or the reactions they create during the digestive process, might affect a person's chances of getting cancer," state chairman Neve McArthur said.

"For example, high-fiber diets are recommended to help avoid colorectal cancer, and vitamin A might reduce the risk of getting cancers of the lung, larynx and esophagus. We also recommend that foods high in fat be avoided to help lower risks for cancers of the breast, prostate and colon."

John C. Clay, MD, president of the American Cancer Society's Mississippi Division Inc., is also looking for a good fight.

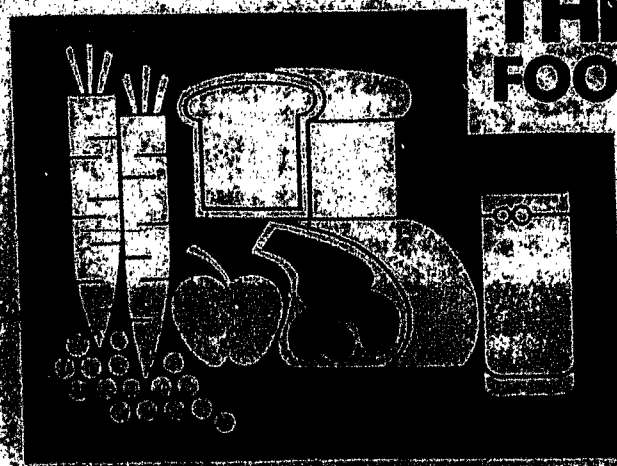

"As many as 35 percent of all cancers might be attributed to diet," Clay says. "By making simple, inexpensive changes in daily habits, many people can reduce their cancer risk. Our message is that how you live may save your life."

According to McArthur, the purpose of the Community Crusade is to inform as many people in Mississippi as possible about cancer prevention, early detection, treatment, research, and education programs. She believes that the Food Fight will enrich the Crusade.

"In the past, we've stressed the various tests and procedures that detect cancer in its early stages," McArthur says. "But this year, with the Great American Food Fight Against Cancer, we're concentrating on how you can try to avoid cancer while enjoying delicious foods and having fun."

For more information, contact your local American Cancer Society or call the state office at 1-800-ACS-2345.

PRC slates tryouts for dance team, flag and rifle corps

Tryouts for Pearl River Community College's String of Pearls, a precision dance team, will be Saturday, May 4 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the Marvin R. White Coliseum on the Poplarville campus.

Dance experience is desired as candidates will be taught a dance and kick routine in the morning session. Each participant will be evaluated on her ability to learn and perform a routine, rhythm and coordination, personal appearance, sharpness of precision, poise, showmanship and flair.

A personal interview may be used. Tryouts are closed to all spectators, and candidates are required to wear leotards, tights, and tennis shoes. Those selected will receive a PRC scholarship.

For more information contact Connie Holmes at Station A, Box 5056, Poplarville, MS 39470, 795-6801 ext. 370.

The Pearl River Community College band, "The Spirit of the River," will hold tryouts for its flag, rifle corps and drum major on Saturday, May 4.

Drum major tryouts start at 9 a.m. in the band hall. Basic conducting patterns, verbal commands, and conducting to a record or tape selection of choice, will be covered.

Flag and rifle tryouts start at 9:30 a.m. in the band hall and will include basic flag and rifle fundamentals; execution of a routine learned earlier to a record or tape of your choice, and the performance of a routine to be taught each participant, time permitting.

Participants must bring their own flag or rifle.

For more information, contact Archie Rawls, band director, at 795-6801 ext. 271.

JASON MAUFFRAY Mauffray to compete for BHS

Jason Mauffray, seventh grade student at Bay High School, received the second place award in the Coast Council of Teachers of Mathematics district tournament.

Sponsored by CCTM, the tournament was held at Pearl River Community College on March 19.

Seventh grader, Kim Nguyen, and eighth graders, Travis Vandersypen and Randy Brou also competed in the tournament. The four students became eligible to compete in the tournament. The four students became eligible to compete by earning top scores in the local math competition held at Bay High.

He is the son of Mrs. Clara Mauffray of Waveland and Preston Mauffray of Biloxi. Mrs. Sandra Gray, a member of CCTM, is his math instructor.

DeLisle Elementary names 'Invent America' winners

DeLisle Elementary School recently held its first Invent America! student invention competition. There was 100% participation in the enrichment class, which consists of students in grades 2 through 4. Debra Bertucci, gifted teacher, and Susan Ware, librarian, worked to coordinate this program and make it successful.

The Invent America! program is designed to help children develop and apply critical and creative thinking skills. Winning inventions were chosen by Judges Tammy Perry of Mississippi Power Company and Frank Wilhem of Triton Industries. Those students receiving first place will represent their grade level as entries in the national Invent America! student competition.

First place winners were Laura Taquino, second grade for the Travel Diaper; Heath Masses, third grade for the Robotics Garbage Truck; and Benjamin Sabree, fourth grade for the Geo Globe. These students received a certificate, a ribbon, and a $50 savings bond.

Honorable mentions were given to Michele Bang, second grade for Tattle Tales; Kerri Jones, third grade for the Soda Saver; and Suzette Griffon, fourth grade for the Ziplock Shower Curtain.

Materials and awards at DeLisle Elementary School were made possible through the Pass Christian Public Schools Adopt-A-School program. Russell's Shell Station and Mississippi Power Company were the sponsors for this year's Invent America! Program.

All aboard!

Seventh and eighth graders recently enjoyed a field trip to New Orleans, where they visited the New Orleans Children's Museum and the Riverwalk in addition to a riverboat ride.

Hancock students place at Regional Science Fair

Approximately 50 local students placed in the Region 6 Science and Engineering Fair held March 22 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

The Region 6 fair was held for the sixth year on the Coast through the joint sponsorship of the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium, the Naval Oceanographic and Atmospheric Research Laboratory, Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College and the University of Southern Mississippi.

More than 1,300 students from schools in George, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson and Stone Counties competed. Local military, research health care and industrial organizations provided judges for the fair.

Trophies went to first, second and third place winners in each category and grade class. First through third place winners in grades 7-12 also advance to state competition to be held April 12 at Jackson State University.

Winners are listed by grade class and subjects. Grade classes are Class 5, grades 11-12; Class 4, grades 9-10; Class 3, grades 7-8; Class 2, grades 4-6; Class 1, grades 1-3.

Area winners include the following (some of whom were omitted from a prior listing):

Class 5
Microbiology: honorable mention, Jolene Page, Hancock High School.

Class 2
Botany and Microbiology: honorable mention, Douglas Radzyniak, Hancock North Central Elementary.

Math, Computers, Earth and Space: first, Suzanne Smith, Hancock North Central; honorable mention, Casey Bernard, Bay Middle School.

Behavioral and Social: honorable mention, Steven Carver, Bay Middle School.

Class 1
Zoology, Medicine and Health: third, Derek Adam Anderson, Hancock North Central.

Zoology, Medicine and Health: first, Heath Massey, DeLisle Elementary.

Math, Computers, Earth and Space: honorable mention, Michael Jones, Hancock North Central Elementary.

NASA offers Earth Day workshop to area teachers

Area teachers are invited to attend an Earth Day 1991 workshop from 8:15 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. April 24 in NASA's Teacher Resource Center at the John C. Stennis Space Center. Participants will receive information on a variety of ongoing programs at Stennis that relate specifically to the environment.

In addition, teachers will receive material on America's wetlands, recycling tips and Earth Day sourcebooks in various grade levels from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

A NASA scientist will discuss "Mission to Planet," a space-based data gathering program in which NASA has taken the lead in the effort to examine this planet on a global scale. An environmental chemist with the EPA will speak on "Think Globally, Act Locally - Recycle."

Other speakers at the workshop include NASA and NASA contractor scientists and technicians who work at Stennis on projects that help mankind understand the environment.

A remote sensing specialist with the Scientific Applications Branch of Lockheed will give a slide demonstration on environmental monitoring being done at Stennis. Personnel from the NASA Science and Technology Laboratory will discuss "Earth Resources Applications."

Also, a video on "The Gulf of Mexico Project" will be presented. The workshop will conclude with a tour of Stennis Space Center.

Earth Day was established by the President and Congress in 1970 to encourage Americans to focus their attention on environmental issues.

Since its inception, Americans across the country have learned more about the environment through Earth Day activities and have joined efforts to protect this country's natural resources.

While NASA continues its primary mission of space development, complex data about the forces at work here on Earth is being collected and studied.

In speaking of the legacy of the first moon landing, NASA Administrator Richard M. Truly said, "Who can forget those first views of Earth taken from Apollo spacecraft? They reminded people the world over of Earth's uniqueness and of the need to preserve and protect its resources. Spaceflight has given us the tools to measure changes that both nature and man are inflicting on Earth's land masses, atmosphere and oceans.

"In the future, we plan to continue a systematic program of observations of the Earth from space. Those observations will help provide the answers on why and how our planet is changing; the course such changes will take over the coming decade; and what we, as a civilization, can and must do to cope with future global change."

NASA's involvement in Mission to Planet Earth responds to the current need to monitor these global changes. Under this program, NASA will launch a number of satellites and instruments in an Earth Probe series called the Earth Observing System (EOS).

The European Space Agency, Japan and the Soviet Union will join NASA on EOS research. Data gathered from this program will make comprehensive observations of the Earth's atmosphere, oceans and land surfaces.

Reservations for this free workshop are required and can be made by calling (601) 688-3338 by Friday, April 19.
